

ABSTRACT SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

Abstract Submission Deadline: 13 November, 2009

We invite you to submit an abstract for an oral or poster presentation on any of the Special Sessions or any other seabird topic. Individuals may only submit one oral presentation for which they are the senior author. You will be notified regarding acceptance of your submission as an oral paper or poster, talk duration and poster size.

Please send your abstract with the information requested below in one MS Word document to Tom.Good@noaa.gov.

If you are submitting a paper for one of the Special Paper Sessions listed below, please coordinate your submission with the appropriate session contact.

Symposium:

Population status and trends of Kittlitz's Murrelets (Contact: Michelle Kissling)

Special Paper Sessions:

1. Life and Death: identification, quantification, and reduction of mortality in seabirds. Contact: Laird Henkel (lhenkel@ospr.dfg.ca.gov) and Michael Ziccardi)
2. Developing an Ecological Profile of the California Least Tern (Sternula antillarum browni) to Support Ecosystem-Based Management Decisions. Contact: Dan Robinette (drobinette@prbo.org)
3. Seabird Habitat Restoration. Contact: Laurie Harvey (Laurie_Harvey@nps.gov)

Please include answers to the information below in the same document as your abstract. Please use your name in your word document filename.

Name:

Email:

Eligible for the student paper awards? Yes or No

State the type of paper are you submitting: Poster, Oral, Either Poster or Oral

State the Special Session name

If you are not submitting an abstract for one of the Special Paper Sessions, please list the general discipline for which you believe your abstract is most appropriate (e.g., breeding biology, foraging ecology, conservation, etc.).

PowerPoint projector will be provided. Describe any sort of non-standard audio-visual requirements

For additional details on the meeting, please visit the PSG website:

<http://www.pacificseabirdgroup.org/index.php?f=meeting&t=Annual%20Meeting&s=1>

ABSTRACT FORMAT

THE IMPORTANCE OF FORMATTING YOUR ABSTRACT TO THE SUCCESS OF THE 2010 PACIFIC SEABIRD GROUP ANNUAL MEETING

*Verena A. Gill¹, and *Kathleen O'Reilly*², ¹U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 1011 East Tudor Road, MS 341, Anchorage, AK 99503 USA, verena_gill@hotmail.com; ²Department of Biology, University of Portland, 5000 N. Willamette Blvd., Portland, OR 97203 USA

Put the title in capitals. Return twice. Put the authors' names in Italics. Indicate the speaker with an asterisk. Use superscripts for authors with different addresses. Include the email address of the senior author. Do not put a period after the email address. Return twice. Indent three spaces. Single space the body of the abstract. Place only one space after periods. Avoid abbreviations. Include scientific names of species (Italics in parentheses). Please include results and avoid using phrases such as "will be discussed." A word processor count of the body of the abstract should not exceed 250 words. Presenters will be notified later regarding length of oral presentation and scheduling, as well as size of posters. Use Times New Roman 11 font with one-inch margins. Live long and prosper.